94 C4 HELP Misfire When Warm

My 1994 corvette is having a problem when it warms up. The motor would misfire at idle and when you stepped on it from a dead stop. As the motor heats up it is fine, also fine on cold days. It starts to misfire when the temp is in the normal running range on warm or hot days, when you come to a stop the motor misses then wants to raise the idle. It also then breaks up badly above 4500rpm when its warm or hot!!

Any help would be appreciated:banghead:

I'm looking at a 95 C4 with 77k mile, it drops about 4 to 6 drops of oil on the ground overnight. Looks near the back of the motor, and can be smelled after driving to temp. When on the ground looking under the car the oil pan appears moist, not covered in driplets. I didn't see any clear sources, but hoped for common spots on this year model.

Please advise if any other areas of problem I should look over before purchase.

Thank You in advance.
